Senator Proctor was a commanding and influential figure in the republican y and the late Charles W. national conventions of '84, '88 and 1896. He was largely instrumental in upon him the degree of the nomination of President Harrison, brought the state of Vermont into the McKinley column at its state convention when the other New England states were he was admitted to the supporting New England's candidate, Thomas B. Reed, and insisted as a member of the platform committee in the '96 convention on the adoption of the gold him in line for deserved promotion. He remodelled the coast defenses and today both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts are lined with disappearing guns that will protect us from any invaders. As a Senator he did not rank with his predecessor as a constitutional lawyer, but he was generally recognized as one of that small coterie of leaders in the upper body among whom might be mentioned Aldrich, Hale, Spooner, Foraker and Allison. He was a loyal party man, yet left his colleagues in the party when he stood for the Philippine tarriff and on other notable occasions. More than anyone else in the United States he was responsible for the Spanish American war by his direct and impassioned speech after his return from Cuba in the spring of 1898. He was chairman of the committee on agriculture and was a member of the appropriations and other impor-tant committees. He was always helping his native state and her loyal sons, Fort Ethan Allen being one of his ideas.

Senator Proctor's generosity was not confined to his town, where a Y. M. C. A., a library and a hospital attest to his generosity, but Rutland's city park and the Pittsford Sanitorium are notable examples of his philanthropy.

Senator Proctor married on May 26, 1858, Emily J. Dutton, daughter of Salmon F. Dutton of Cavendish. They had been children and schoolmates together and friends from the first. Five childgen were born to them, three of whom are living: Gov. Fletcher D. Proctor, who became superintendent of the Vermont Marble company in 1884 and its president in 1889; Emily D., and Red-field Proctor, Jr.

"Every man to his trade" is an old adage and is familiar to nearly all of us. It is brief in its wording but conveys a great deal in its meaning. It is merely a terse way of saying that a man who makes a specialty of any one thing knows more about, and is more proficient in his particular specialty than any one else could be. It is for this reason that we all seek a specialist when we have any serious physical ailment. It is for the same reason that The Rydale Remedy Co., went to one of the best specialists in the U. S. on liver and in testinal troubles, a professor in a Columbus, O. Medical College, and secured from him a prescription from which Rydale's Liver Tablets are made. This specialist knew more about liver troubles than a doctor who treats all diseases; and that is why Rydale's Liver Tablets relieve and cure more quickly all liver

Our Fashion Letter.

New York .- The Spring Outfit .- Cretonne Used for Vests in Both Woolen and Linen Suits .- Striped Linen a Novelty.-New Shirt Waists.-Hats With Lace Bows.

The demands of Fashion are getting more and more exacting every year, and this season certainly the well dressed woman will need a very large closet or wardrobe to hold all the toilettes now considered absolutely necessary for an up-to-date outfit. Spring has brought entirely different in cut, collars and sleeves have altered their shape and skirts bear little relation to those of 12 months ago.

Rough silks of all sorts play a great part in the spring fashions. Of these pongee and tussah are easily the leaders. And the rough pongee weaves of domestic, French and Oriental origin are now being made up into the very smartest of all smart frocks. These fabrics are shown in remarkably attractive pattern robes, some of which are in 18 and 20 yard lengths with sufficient material and embroidered trimming for a three Mr. and Mrs. L. H. J. Merrill of Williamstown observed their 60th wedding piece suit, skirt, coat and waist. In making up such suits the embroidered fronts that are generally used for the waist are here employed for the backs of the coats and enough embroidery is taken from the skirt part to trim the fronts and collars and cuffs, leaving just sufficient embroidery for a panel or Vest trimmings are a feature in many of the most novel of the new spring suits The Very Latest Fashion Hints from and in some of the extreme styles these models are made with separate waistcoats, but the trimming that stimulates a vest rather than the extra waistcoat is decidedly the most popular of the two. Oriental brocades and embroideries and cotton cretonne prints are the very newest materials for these vests. The cretonnes, which are decidedly the latest Parisian fad, are used on cloth as well as linen suits A linen suit with a vest of white French cretonne patterned with dull pink roses and green leaves is one of the very smartest creations of a famous Fifth Avenue dressmaking establishment.

Large quantities of washable suits are up-to-date outfit. Spring has brought us many changes in fashion. Waists are Linen in white, pale blue, lavender, pale pink, brown and the very pale tan that is the natural linen color, is used for the purpose. Khaki colored linens are new and some very smart looking models in this material are seen in the New York shops but the fabric that is on the very topmost wave of fashion is the new striped linen. The cut of these linen suits is almost invariably the strictly tailored model with some form of cutaway coat and many gored skirt with lapped seams. In all points of detail and finish these suits are as perfectly tailored as the most expensive cloth costumes.

For several years the fashion designers have been trying very hard to introduce colored shirt waists again but the idea never seemed to take with well-dressed women. This year however it will, to judge from present indications, meet with much better success. The shops are filled with waists of striped and checked madras, thinner waists of cotton voile with half inch stripes of pale blue, pink or lavender and besides these a few models in solid colors are shown. The ultra fashionable material for shirt waists is striped linen batiste but this is too expensive for ordinary use as it sells DONIAN." It will bring them free, post-paid, much valuable information about pongees can be purchased at from 75 even more. For general wear through-of heavy corded wash silk. China silk printed in the popular striped effects and waists of plain and fancy taffeta. These models are made with a frilled front, the selvage of the silk being used instead of a hem. The frills trim the cuffs as well | button from one side of her nose. as the front pleat and the neck is finished with one of the new embroidered or striped linen collars.

There is a decided fad at present to wear with strictly tailored shirt waists of linen or pongee, collars and cuffs made of natural Shantung pongee or of Gobelin blue pique or linen.

Little bows of lace, net or silk, mull ties, narrow Windsor ties and a variety of four-in-hands are used with the stiff linen collars in tailored shirt waists. The very latest tie of all for women's wear is the knitted silk four-in-hand in a novel striped pattern.

The new millinery is very lovely and the shapes more becoming than they have been for years. Both feathers and flowers are used in profusion but the greatest novelty in trimming effects is the large bow of net or lace, stifly wired to make it stand out and placed in the front of the hat. These bows are used on straws, the new silk covered shapes and on lace hats. A very dressy summer hat is made entirely of ring dot net and adorned with a large bow of the same material.

Henry A. Devenger and the said Erra H. executed to one George awaiting his trial for his brutal assault on Mr. Moore on the night of Feb. 26, confessed that Mrs. Drew, who is a Barnet woman and about 25 years old, was an accomplice in the assault, making known to him that Mr. Moore had received about $50 from the sale of a small piece of property. After the assault Mrs. Drew blew a horn to summon the neighbors and Stone alleges that this was done to hide her guilt. Mrs. Drew was taken to Woodsville that afternoon pending a hearing in the cause.

The officers found Mr. Moore able to sit up and slowly convalescing from the assault.
